

r-e-s-p-e-c-t

Find Out What it Means to People at Work

(Compiled by Joel Saltzman)

The following rules for r-e-s-p-e-c-t were written by kids (ages 6-12). Reprinted from the book, What The World Needs Now: Kids' Advice On Treating People Right, compiled by J.S Salt (aka Joel Saltzman).

Make everyone feel special.

Give people more chances in life.

Try to remember you're not the only one that can have a bad day.

Don't leave people when they're in need of help.

Teach them something you know how to do.

Never look at someone like they're nothing.

Never say "I'm better than you."

Don't even think it!

Most people are fragile and deep
no matter how tough and shallow they may act.

Try to remember this at all times.

When someone does something good,
tell them they did a good job.

Give boosters not put-downs.

Say, "You can always talk to me if you need to."

Don't scream at people - EVER.

Compliment at least 3 people everyday who are not one of your best friends.

If they say "I can't do it,"
you tell them, "Yes, you can!"

Never say anything to make someone feel bad.
Because in the end you feel terrible.

If you say you will do something later ... then do it.

Stick together in bad times like glue.

Be nice to everybody even if they aren't nice to you.

If you really want to punch someone ...
don't go near them for a while.

Treat your enemies like they're your best friend.

Make people feel welcome and confident inside
-- especially if they're new.

Treat everyone you meet like the most important person
in the whole world.

Make people enjoy being around you.

When you treat people right you'll become a happier person with more things to be happy about. But treating people right doesn't always come naturally.

And remember ...

Don't treat people like you're the king.
Act like we're all a team and we can do it together.

Joel Saltzman is a speaker, facilitator and consultant who teaches people in business to Shake That Brain!® and discover solutions for maximum profit. A former comedian and best selling author, his latest book is "Shake That Brain! (How to Create Winning Solutions - and have FUN While You're at It!)", to be published by Wiley 12/05.

He can be reached Toll Free at 877-Shake It! (877-742-5348)

e-mail: joel@shakethatbrain.com

Visit his website www.shakethatbrain.com/wow

To view selections from "What The World Needs Now"

(presented in the kids' own words and handwriting)

visit Shake It! Books at www.shakeitbooks.com

Back