

Dog Park: A Social Network is a fine-art photography e-book containing over 120 full-page high-quality color pictures documenting several spring afternoons at a North Hollywood, California off-leash dog park. This book is an excellent study of the social nature of our domesticated dogs, and how this one tiny plot of land in park-poor Los Angeles can bring joy and energy to city dwellers. With the advent of high-definition tablets like the Kindle Fire HD, this collection of beautiful, natural dog portraits and stunning, candid action shots is literally an art gallery show that fits in your pocket, This is a portable coffee-table art book that will please all dog lovers and photography lovers of any age! Anthony Pardines, a multimedia artist/journalist based in Los Angeles, is known for his unique perspective on common, everyday subject matter and with this project he brings out the personalities and relationships of the featured canines at play. In this book you will find large dogs and small dogs, pure-breeds and mutts, backyard dogs and lap dogs. There are excellent images of German shepherds, pit bulls, chihuahuas, terriers, cocker spaniels, poodles, rottweilers, dobermans, beagles, labradors, hounds, and many others.
