

A picture book collaboration with World Vision that celebrates life the world over! From the moment we take our first steps, it seems we are always on the move. Pictured here are the many and unusual ways we get around. Whether they go on their own two feet, by wheeled vehicle, water craft, animal power, or by air, children find some unorthodox and truly imaginative ways to "get there." This delightful series is the result of the collaboration between Tundra Books and World Vision Canada to bring an array of exceptional photos from around the world to very young children. Each book centers on a universal theme, familiar by its very nature, yet new due to faraway settings and ethnic, cultural, and socio-economic diversity. Each remarkable photo essay will foster discussion, observation, and many smiles as children compare and contrast their own experience to that of others. Watch for further books in this series.

Wondering how to support your beginning reader as they learn to read? The second big question I get is, "What do I do when my child gets stuck on a word?". Happily, raising a reader is fun, rewarding and relatively easy. Sure, it's good to get started reading aloud the children's books that will be part of your child's. For your new reader to really shine, they need practice. And if you can get a few readings (the more the better) out of the same book, they will have a better.

But when it comes to that pile of early readers, she's either too tired or much progress, and it turns into a bit of a fight to get her to read to us at. There are lots of fun and easy ways to help get your child ready to read. Try these simple ideas to get your child ready for reading.
