

La labor de compilación de la obra de Tomasa Cuevas comienza en 1974, cuando decide recorrer España e ir grabando con un magnetofono los testimonios de mujeres que habían estado con ella en diversas cárceles. Contraria al pacto de silencio de la transición, decide publicar el material recogido en esas cintas. Tomasa, militante del Partido Comunista y con una gran fortaleza de carácter, recoge los impresionantes testimonios de muchas mujeres que fueron encarceladas, algunas de ellas simplemente por el hecho de ser madres, hermanas o mujeres de activistas políticos. Todas ellas mantuvieron la dignidad y se negaron a ser humilladas en público. ¿Por qué todo este sacrificio no se ha visto nunca reconocido? Bien por ese pacto de silencio, bien por el machismo dentro de los partidos políticos, ya que pocas mujeres resistentes y del exilio llegaron a ocupar cargos públicos. Este libro es un homenaje a todas las mujeres que durante el régimen franquista sufrieron represión, torturas, presidio e, incluso, la muerte.
