

Author Shiela Branson offers a glimpse into the busier-than-you-d-expect life of small communities within North Dakota's Wells County. Shiela takes us along to many of the events of the area where we meet the people who have earned for North Dakota its reputation for producing exceptional individuals of integrity whose work ethic is unparalleled, whose compassion and spirit are matched only by their creativity and humor. Through a year's worth of feature articles written for the Wells County Herald-Press newspaper (Eldredge Publishing) and a few pieces previously unpublished, we are invited to join in the fun, the hard work, the family and community gatherings, the commitment to bettering their own part of the world that the people of Wells County put their hearts and souls into. A largely agricultural area, there's a cohesiveness that over-rides whatever fusses might pop up now and then between individuals. When push comes to shove nobody has to wonder whose got their backs - it's a given. In this neck of the non-woods (its prairie land, very few trees that haven't been man-planted) people take for granted things much of the world envies, or has ceased to believe in. Family, friends, and neighbors actually CARE - and they show it. Small Town USA is a lot stronger than you think; take heed. The world needs a lot more of what these Small Towns have to offer.
