

When she left RADI designers, which she had cofounded, in 2003, the young French designer Florence Doleac decided to develop her own work. Remaining true to her principles, she ventured to produce objects with a distanced attitude colored by humor. Her discourse treats themes as fundamental as our behavior in our familiar domestic surroundings, when doing housework, or in our free time. When we discover her creations we are constantly pushed to question anew how we sit down, eat, walk, lie down: she responds to questions of function and utility with wit and poetry. This monograph presents her work in chronological order with commentaries. The exhibition at mudac (musee de design et d arts appliques contemporains) is documented in the book as a photo reportage. Florence Doleac was awarded the coveted Prix de la presse pour les Arts et la Culture, the Globes de Cristal, in 2006. Since 2000 she has been teaching at the Ecole cantonale d Art de Lausanne (ECAL).
